

Most freelancers think the hardest part is finding clients.

It isn't.

The hardest part is getting someone to reply.

Many talented freelancers send messages like:

✗ "Hi Sir, I need work."

✗ "Please hire me."

✗ "Can I work with you?"

Clients see messages like these every day.

The difference isn't luck.

It's how you start the conversation.

I've built an AI-assisted client message template designed to help freelancers start better conversations without sounding spammy or pushy.

Comment MESSAGE below, and I'll send you the complete template through DM.

Save this post so you never run out of better client conversations.